STATE AFFAIRS GIVE JUDGE YEOMANS NO TIME FOR POLITICS

(By Georgia News Service)

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 22.—The affairs of the state of Georgia so occupied Attorney General M. J. Yeomans all of last week that he was busy on duty to the office he holds, his campaign for re-election was sidetracked entirely.

It was one of those cases of "when it rains it pours." Into Judge Yeomans' office poured a flood of legal business important to Georgia and her people. He put his personal affairs aside promptly in keeping with his long and well-known policy of never to delay when state problems came before him. For an entire week people who called to wish him well and pledge him support were politely informed that he was busy on state problems and must finish before seeing anyone on personal affairs.

"That has been his way ever since he has been attorney general," said one of his assistants. "He considers himself as having been put in office by the people, to represent them to the state to the best of his ability. He isn't going to let anybody or any personal interest stop him. His job comes first. To my mind it is about the most admirable trait a man can have and will be appreciated by the voters."

In the meantime, while the attorney general's campaign was put on the shelf temporarily, newspapers continued to give him their endorsement and his office was flooded with letters congratulating him on his record and pledging him support.

Strickland, a farmer in the Arcola community, was seriously hurt in an automobile wreck on the highway between Brooklet and Arcola Sunday. Mr. Strickland was riding on the running board of his father's, Willie Strickland's car, when a truck from Dublin ran into the rear of the car and threw him headfirst on the pavement.

Mr. Strickland rolled over several times and was hit on the hip by one of the cars. The name of the driver of the truck and the complete details of the accident were not ascertained. The injured man was rushed to Brooklet for first aid. The attending physician here sent him to the Bulloch County Hospital, where his injuries were pronounced painful and probably serious.

ENCOUNTERS TWO BIG RATTLES ON HIGHWAY

D. T. Proctor, of Arcola, insurance representative, rides the highway between Savannah and Statesboro real often. Several times in the past few months Mr. Proctor has killed a rattlesnake on his trips. Saturday he had an unusual experience. Two miles from Brooklet toward Arcola he saw a long rattlesnake twisting itself across the highway. Mr. Proctor swerved his car so as to run over the reptile. This stunned the snake so that Mr. Proctor had time to hunt a stick and finish killing it. The diamond back rattler measured almost five feet and had fourteen rattles.

Mr. Proctor started on his trip home when, in a few hundred yards of the spot where the first one was killed, he spied another larger rattler but not quite so long. Mr. Proctor jumped from his car to get another stick, but by the time the car stopped the rattler disappeared.

BEAUTY EXPERT TO BE HERE NEXT WEEK

"How far is it from New York to Statesboro?" a traveler stopped in to ask at Franklin's, the Rexall drug store, not long ago.

Whatever the number of miles in actual distance, it's no distance at all measured by the miles of fashion. . . and of Rexall service. Park Avenue styles and Fifth Avenue beauty aids arrive in Statesboro almost simultaneously with their appearance on the great fashion avenues themselves.

At the Rexall drug store on Monday to Saturday of the week beginning August 29th, Franklin's is presenting Miss Katherine Davidson in a Cara Nome Beauty Week, arranged as a special courtesy for you, their customers and friends, at their own expense. She will have a heart-to-heart talk with you about your own individual beauty problems. She will give you the most delightfully restful facial you ever had, followed by a smart, glamorous make-up that will create new loveliness for you.

The price is so low that people will not make a fortune from the sale of it, even if they do have a good bit.

RIVERS REGRETS POLITICS OF HATE

Political Hatred is Greatest Bar To Progress of State, Declares Governor.

(By Georgia News Service)

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 22.—Two days after he had broken ground for a half-million-dollar repair program at the state sanitarium at Milledgeville, Governor E. D. Rivers told an audience at Summerville that what Georgia needs is "love and progress; not hate and stagnation;" that politics of hate has done more to retard the advancement of our state than any other one thing.

Although he did not emphasize in his address the work he has done personally in order to get the Milledgeville repair program under way, many of his hearers recalled the fact that the governor postponed opening of his campaign for re-election in order to go to Washington where he was successful in securing funds for this and other work of progress in Georgia. The construction program at Milledgeville was described by him as "the beginning of a new era" in the hospital for treatment of mental diseases. He thanked the press of Georgia for co-operation in getting the needed repair work under way.

While the Milledgeville speech was part of the governor's official work in furthering his program of progress, his Summerville address was in furtherance of his campaign for re-election. There was wide comment among his listeners that obviously he is undisturbed by the recent turbulent developments in the senatorial campaign and that, as he stated in the beginning, he is conducting his own campaign without regard to any others. It was also pointed out by many that none of the senatorial candidates has indicated in any way that Governor Rivers should do otherwise.

His speech was devoted to progress already made in Georgia and progress that yet can be made through co-operation of co-operation of forward-looking citizens who put the interests of the state and her citizens above all else.

"I believe the day is past," he said, "when the people can be fooled into burning against their own interests by demagogic appeals to prejudice by those who think only of government in terms of office and how little it can serve the people."

Rivers said, "Georgia's progress on all fronts in the last 18 months has shown how government can be made to serve the people.

"At no time have I ever known the people of Georgia to be prouder of the position of their state, its rapid progress in education, in health and in governmental services. The people realize now as they never have before realized that with a co-operative legislature and governor and a program which they commissioned to carry out, that progress is being made; that we are really getting ahead in Georgia.

"We have tasted the fruits of co-operative effort and we have found it to be good and only a minority—a very small and willful minority in Georgia—persist in singing a hymn of hate, slings its old discarded ways that held back our beloved state for so long. And on September 14, even they will be silenced forever."

URGES GROWERS BE OF GOOD CHEER

Assistant Federal Administrator Points Out Advantages to Georgia Tobacco Growers.

Georgia tobacco growers will receive about $10,000,000 for the 1938 crop as compared with $12,500,000 for the 1937 crop and $6,469,000 for the 1936 tobacco crop, says J. B. Hutson, assistant AAA administrator, speaking to county committee members, review committees and county agents assembled at Douglas last Saturday. The fifty tobacco counties were represented at the meeting.

Mr. Hutson stated that tobacco growers must make their choice between a heavy crop for 1939 with a low income or a small crop with an other high income. He urged Georgia growers to continue just as they are doing and showed over the past twenty years where the income from tobacco in Georgia was increasing gradually.

The assistant administrator explained to the group that it was possible under the present law for committee to distribute tobacco poundage to the individual growers. The supreme court has ruled against the delegation of power in this respect, and congress had written into the law the steps necessary to follow in distributing the poundage. The formula used to calculate the poundage allotments was prescribed by the act as written by congress.

Mr. Hutson praised tobacco growers for trying to make the 1938 program work after it came to them so late. In reviewing the history of the present program, he stated that a bill was introduced in 1937 but failed to pass; then a committee appointed from the agricultural committee of congress held hearings in various sections of the country, and that from these hearings this committee drew up the present law and passed it late this past spring.

Members of the review committee from Bulloch attended the meeting at Tifton Saturday.

Portal and West Side F. F. A. Camping Trip

The Portal and West Side F. F. A. chapters have just completed an enjoyable and educational tour through North Georgia. This trip was planned by G. T. Gard, vocational agriculture teacher of Portal and West Side, and the F. F. A. members of these schools. It is customary each year for Mr. Gard and his students to take such a trip.

Since previous preparation had already been made, the following were ready and eager to start on their camping trip Monday morning, August 1st: Edwin Brack, Larry Gay, J. R. Gay, Britt Aaron, B. L. Cowart, Alton Brannen, Jack Gay, Richard Brannen, Mike Alderman and James Turner, of Portal, and Hulen Allen, R. J. Brannen and Kermit Walters, of West Side. Non-F. F. A. members who went were R. A. Wynn, Gene Johnson, Harold Hendrix and Edgar Wynn.

Samuel Bonnett and his family came to our camping place while we were there. He is from Portal.

We paid five dollars to finance our trip; also carried some food and other needed articles to lighten expenses.

Edgar Wynn loaned us his school bus to go in, and we left Portal Monday morning with R. A. Wynn, Harold Hendrix and Edgar Wynn driving. We soon passed Millen, Waynesboro and Thomson. We passed through Washington and stopped at Athens to see the University and the have lunch. Milk for lunch was secured directly from the agricultural unit. It rained while we were in Athens.

Soon we were on our way again, and having passed through Cornsaw and Cornelia, besides having seen many peach and apple orchards, we came to Tallulah. There we stopped for awhile to see the gorge. All of us were awed by the magnificent beauty and great depth.

Continuing on our way, we came to Lakemont and rented a cottage on Lake Rabun, where we stayed until Thursday noon. Meanwhile all the boys enjoyed themselves thoroughly by swimming, hiking, boating and baseball. Everyone especially enjoyed the scenic boat rides on large and beautiful Lake Rabun. We went to Clayton, several times to see a movie and to make purchases.

On Wednesday the group of us went again to Tallulah and descended the 650-foot gorge by a cable-operated car. A guide showed us through the Tugalo power plant. As the car was being repaired, we were forced to climb out of the gorge, which was very exhausting.

After we had spent several enjoyable days at Lake Rabun, we left Thursday on a sight-seeing tour that eventually led us home. Our road led us through some of the most beautiful mountain scenery in Georgia. We passed through Clayton, Hiwassee, Blairsville, Gainesville and Buford to Atlanta. In Atlanta we spent several hours at Grant Park, a trip through the capitol and general sight-seeing. Britt Aaron visited his sister at the Henry Grady Hospital.

About noon Friday, we resumed our homeward journey. We rested at Indian Springs, and continued on to Macon, where we stopped to see a movie and to get refreshments. We left Macon about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Between Macon and Dublin gas gave out and we had to push the truck about a quarter of a mile to a service station.

Coming through Dublin, Adrian, Swainsboro and Graymont-Summit, we arrived back in Portal Friday night. It was raining hard and was inconvenient to get home.

Home-coming was welcome in spite of the grumpy time we had. Mr. Gard and our parents, together with all who contributed toward our enjoyment, have our deepest appreciation and gratitude.

JACK GAY, Reporter.

Between Us

With the approach of fall come thoughts of returning teachers, and we really do miss them during the summer. Understand quite a few of the faculty members at the college have plans for new homes to be built during the fall. Lena Belle and Mr. Hanner are making plans for a new home to go up in the next month or so. And from all reports Malvina Trussell is going to build a lovely brick home out toward the college. Plans are drawn for a two-story English home. Another addition to our town faculty is W. H. Chandler, who comes as our new principal. And lovely Louise Chandler is no stranger to some of our young folks, as she attended the University with some of the younger set. Tall, and with beautiful jet black hair she was the center of attraction at the tea given for her last week on arrival here. Equally as attractive are Mrs. Sherman and her young daughters, who come to us from Mrs. Sherman. Mrs. Martin operated the Jaekel Hotel several years ago. This story concerns a young man and lady who still say it's just "good friends" that makes them prefer each other's company. Anyhow, it goes like this: One night last week they decided to go down to the pool for a swim. Both have a car, but you know how those things work out—they just wanted to walk. So, when they reached the pool it was closed. But do you think that made any difference? The call of the water and the moon putting in its share of begging, they started out to the college, and went by Aunt Sophie's apartment, and, accommodating as she always is, she went with them down to the college pool and they had a great time. And late that night found them tired out but walking all that distance from the college to the other end of town after a long swim. Now, that is what Bernard McFadden would call a good lesson in physical culture. The picture of Margaret Brown in the "Greater Statesboro" film should give her a chance of a screen test. It was lovely, and so natural looking. Friends of Clyde J. Jardine (our Episcopal minister) wondered what kept him so constantly at St. Simons this summer, and after reading the paper we find it wasn't the camp that took all his time. Last Sunday he married one of the councilors at the Episcopal camp, and soon they will be at home in Statesboro, where he already has a host of friends. What happened to the couple that went over to South Carolina Sunday? Did they or did they not change names? Anyway, he is a young business man and she has taught away from Statesboro for the past year or so. Sweethearts of several years. Only thing we can do is to watch the papers, or maybe it will be kept awhile, as she is re-elected and accepted. Will see you.
